

A minimalist line drawing of a floor lamp. It features a tall, slender, cylindrical base that tapers slightly towards the top. The base is mounted on a wide, flat, circular foot. A long, adjustable arm extends from the top of the base, with a small, curved joint near the top. The arm is covered in a textured, possibly braided or woven material. At the end of the arm is a conical lampshade, which is also covered in the same textured material. The entire lamp is rendered in a simple, clean line style against a plain background.

Technical drawing of the floor lamp 'Lampadaire'. The drawing shows the lamp's profile with its dimensions. The total height is 1500 mm. The base has a diameter of 230 mm and a width of 35 mm. The lamp head has a diameter of 100 mm.

A minimalist line drawing of a floor lamp. It features a tall, slender, cylindrical base that tapers slightly towards the top. A horizontal band with a small, dark, rectangular detail is positioned about one-third of the way up the base. From the top of the base, a long, thin, adjustable arm extends upwards and then curves downwards and to the right. The arm has a textured, segmented appearance near the joint. At the end of the arm is a conical lampshade with a small, dark, rectangular detail on its side. The entire drawing is rendered in a simple, clean line style on a light beige background.
